

The Week In Society.

WINDOW LAND.

I love to go in Window Land, along the city street,
Where shoppers throng the pavements and the lights are fairly sweet;
I love to press my nose against the glass and figure out
Whatever all the novel things displayed there are about.
In Window Land the beautiful, in Window Land today,
There is a nameless charm to make my heart both young and gay!

I love to go in Window Land in summer, spring or fall,
But Window Land in holidays is fairer than all;
For every little window looks its best along the street,
Dressed in the very elements that charm with splendor sweet.
Ah, such fine fun the looking, and such dear grace the dream,
Where beauty in the windows of the city sheds its gleam!

In Window Land at Christmas—ah, let me idly stray,
Nor shall another heart there found be younger or more gay.
My nose against the crystal, my eyes in wonder wide,
My lips with wishes laden for the brave, bright things inside—
Dear fairy world of cities, dear streets with charm so grand,
I love to stray, day after day, in lovely Window Land!

The Christmas Shopping.

Already December is assuming a very Christmasy aspect, really alarming in one so young as this week-old month; but when one pauses to count the days ahead they are alarmingly few, too, for even a Christmas rush to be condensed, boiled-down, and merged into. The shops are putting on their Christmas frippes and furbelows, but the weather is still so delightful that not many of us have gotten beyond the "window wishing" as yet. It will take December frowns and not smiles to drive us indoors. This is the time, if one is ever really going to be the wise, provident and thoughtful woman, to begin the Christmas shopping. It may give you a "be good and you'll be lonesome" sort of feeling that is as tearful as the Christmas fire, but you will avoid all the nerves and bores that lurk, they say, in the "Christmas rush." What is so dear, so delightful, though? To give it up would be like giving up Santa Claus and fairies and all sorts of dear impracticable things for staid prosaic, matter-of-fact, common-sense arctic overcoats. But woman is being educated by the press daily in the beauty and duty of "early Christmas shopping," and she means to do it, if not this year, then maybe next year. In the meantime she is hoping that her neighbor may take heed unto her shopping so that she need not feel impelled to do so. And in the back of her head woman is wondering, too, with her delightfully illogical reasoning, if the grim man who writes all that editorial stuff about doing "Christmas shopping early," is not really going to wait until Christmas eve himself to do every blessed bit of his. And a woman's intuitions, you know, make some famous home-runs.

Surprise Party for Popular Visitor.
An enjoyable party was given Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Frank Coburn, on Broadway, in honor of Miss Tess Manning, of St. Louis, an attractive girl who is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Thomas, at the Leake apartments. The affair was arranged by some of the girls of the younger society crowd. Dancing was the feature of pleasure and a delightful luncheon was served. The guests were confined to the younger society, set.

Sans Souci Club.
Mrs. Allen Ashcraft entertained the Sans Souci club very delightfully on Thursday afternoon at her home, 1919 Broadway. The club prize was taken by Miss Mildred Terrell. The lone hand prize went to Miss Clara Park. It was a club affair of three tables, with Miss Mary Waller, of Morganfield, Ky., as the out-of-town guest. An attractive course-luncheon followed the game. Mrs. Henry Hughes, Mrs. Vernon Blythe and Miss Caroline Sowell were luncheon guests.

Reception to Dr. Enelow.
A reception was given Thursday evening at the Standard club by the Sisterhood of Temple Israel in honor of Dr. H. G. Enelow, of Louisville, a former rabbi of Temple Israel. The club rooms were effectively decorated with American Beauty roses and chrysanthemums and the scene was a brilliant one. An informal musical program was rendered under the direction of Miss Mayme Dryfuss. Dr. Enelow made a short address on "The Aims and the Object of the Organization Known as the Sisterhood." Delightful ices, cakes and fruit punch were served during the evening.

Cotillion Club.
The Cotillion club gave the first of its series of dances for the winter on Thursday night at the Knights of Columbus hall, in the Campbell building. It was an especially delightful affair. The German was led by Mr. Louis Rieko, Jr., and Mr. Edwin J. Paxton. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fossick, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. John S. Blecker, Misses Frances Wallace, Ethel Brooks, Blanche Hills, Philippa Nelia Hatfield, Faith Langstaff, Lillie May Winstead, Marjorie Scott, Bernice Frost, of Mayfield, Willie Blanche Asher, of Atlanta, Ga., Irene Faris, of Hickman, Ky., Messrs. Calhoun Rieko, Walter Iverson, Douglas Bagby, Louis Rieko, Jr., Fred Wade, David Koger, Charlie Rieko, Warren Sights, Arthur Martin, Charlie Allcott, Joe Exall, Frank Davis, Edwin J. Paxton, and Dr. I. B. Howell.

D. A. R. Chapter.
The Paducah chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Hubbard S. Wells at the Empire Flats on Broadway. It was the regular meeting for December and the election of officers for 1918 was the first order of business. Mrs. E. G. Boone was re-elected regent; Mrs. Charles K. Wheeler, vice regent; Miss Emily Morrow, secretary, and Mrs. Leslie Soule, registrar. There was a change in the personnel of the other officers, some having served the allotted time. Mrs. C. H. Chamblin was elected treasurer; Mrs. L. O. Walker, historian; Mrs. H. S. Wells, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. S. B. Moore, chaplain. Mrs. Boone was complimented by the chapter on the fidelity and success of her year as regent. The names of Mrs. George Flournoy, of Paducah, and of Mrs. Gus Thomas, of Mayfield, were added to the chapter. Mrs. Thomas is a member of the John Marshall chapter in Louisville, and her membership transferred here. Mrs. Roy McKinney presented greetings from Miss Desha, a national officer of the D. A. R., who said she was watching the Paducah chapter with the greatest interest. It was decided to offer a prize to the school in Rowlandtown, of which the chapter has undertaken the care, to the pupils passing the best examination at the end of this term, in history from the time of the discovery of America. Mrs. Boone, Mrs. George Thompson and Mrs. George Niehaus will visit this school next Friday afternoon by invitation and a literary program will be given. The chapter voted thanks to the city and county for the drinking fountains, recently placed at convenient points for use.

The members responded to roll call with appropriate quotations. Mrs. James Baldwin gave a delightful paper on "The Best Christmas During the Revolution." Attractive musical selections were given by Mrs. Lela Wade Lewis, Mrs. George B. Hart and Miss Dryfuss. Mrs. S. B. Moore gave an interesting account of Miss Lizzie Osborne, of Northbury, Conn., a "real daughter" of the revolution, whose 100th birthday was recently celebrated at her home. She is in possession of all her faculties still. Her picture was exhibited. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The chapter closes this month one of its most successful years along all lines, and in all it has undertaken. Mrs. Boone, the regent, has unusual executive ability and has given herself without stint to the work, and many good things have been planned and accomplished by the enthusiastic chapter under her lead. The chain of public drinking fountains is one of the excellent features. The work for 1918 will be the completion of the handsome D. A. R. memorial fountain at the custom house corner which was successfully projected the past year. It will be an ornament to the city.

Reception For Bride and Bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas S. Mitchell entertained on Thursday evening at their home on Madison street, with a pretty reception in honor of their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Silas E. Mitchell, who returned Thursday from their bridal trip to Chicago and Milwaukee. The house was effectively decorated with smilax, ferns, palms and white and pink carnations. The pink and white scheme was prettily carried out in the ices, cakes and mint. Those who assisted Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell in receiving, besides the bride and bridegroom were: Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Billings, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Baker, Mrs. Eva Washburn, Mrs. Drusie Brantly, Misses Lucile Blackard, Katie Bauer, Ethel Mitchell, Edith Mitchell, Mable Mitchell, May Mitchell.

Matinee Musical Club.

The Matinee Musical club met on Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of the Woman's club house. The program was an attractive one arranged by Mrs. William C. Clark. The subject was "Dance Music," and the waltz, minuet, mazurka, gavotte and ballet were considered. Mrs. Victor Voris presented an admirable paper on "Dance Music," discussing the various forms. Miss Lucile Reed gave a piano solo, "Novellette" from Schuman. The "Kiss Song," from Strauss, was sung by Mrs. James Wellie. Mrs. George B. Hart played two piano numbers, a Minuet from Faderewski, and a waltz by Mockowski. Miss Mamie Dryfuss sang "Snow," by Parker, and Miss Lucile Blackard played "Silver Stars," by Carl Böhm. The waltz song "Carmina" by H. Lane Wilson, was given by Miss Caroline Ham.

"Hard Times" Social Evening.

An unique entertainment of the week was a "hard times" surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.

D. Farrington, 1103 Madison street, on Tuesday evening. It was a merry affair. Mrs. S. A. Barker was given the prize for the most "poverty stricken" costume worn by the ladies. Mr. Philip Rogers carried off the men's honors. A delightful "hard times" luncheon was served during the evening. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Finney, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. P. Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Hendrix, of Toledo, O., Mrs. Hazelbar, Mrs. S. A. Barker, Misses Josephine Hazlebar.
